Table of Contents

About the Author.............................................................................................................. vii
Table of Chapters............................................................................................................ ix
Table of Contents........................................................................................................... xi
Preface............................................................................................................................ xix
Acknowledgements...................................................................................................... xxiii

Chapter 1 Definitions of the Attorney-Client Privilege ........................................... 1
  Q 1.1 What is the attorney-client privilege?................................................................. 2
     Q 1.1.1 What are other leading definitions of the privilege? ............................... 2
  Q 1.2 Do state laws differ in how they define the privilege?................................. 4
     Q 1.2.1 Are corporations treated differently in different states? ...................... 6
  Q 1.3 Is the privilege defined differently in foreign countries? ............................... 7
  Q 1.4 What is the difference between the attorney-client privilege and the work-product doctrine?........................................................................... 8
  Q 1.5 What is the difference between the attorney-client privilege and the lawyer’s duty to preserve client confidences?...................................... 9

Chapter 2 Historical Development and Policies Underlying the Privilege .......... 15
  Q 2.1 What are the historical origins of the attorney-client privilege? ................. 16
  Q 2.2 How has the attorney-client privilege evolved over time? ........................ 17
  Q 2.3 What is the purpose of the modern attorney-client privilege?.................... 19
  Q 2.4 What policies does the attorney-client privilege undermine?..................... 20
  Q 2.5 Is the attorney-client privilege subject to a balancing test? ....................... 21

Chapter 3 Identifying Applicable Law................................................................. 25
  Q 3.1 Does the United States Constitution protect attorney-client communications? ................................................................. 26
  Q 3.2 What privilege law applies in federal court? ................................................ 27
     Q 3.2.1 What law applies to claims based on federal law? ............................... 28
     Q 3.2.2 What law applies to state law claims and defenses in federal court? ... 28
Q 3.2.3 What happens when more than one set of laws could apply? .................................................................29
Q 3.2.4 What law applies in bankruptcy cases? ..................30
Q 3.2.5 What law applies in Federal Circuit appeals? ..........30
Q 3.2.6 What law applies in multidistrict litigation cases? ...31
Q 3.2.7 What law applies in habeas corpus proceedings? ......32
Q 3.2.8 What law applies to cases involving a change of venue?33
Q 3.3 What law applies in state courts? ..............................33
Q 3.4 What law applies in cases where a contract contains a choice of law provision? ........................................34
Q 3.5 What law applies in administrative proceedings? ........34
Q 3.6 When will a court apply the privilege law of a foreign country? .................................................................35

Chapter 4  Who Is an Attorney? ........................................41
Q 4.1 Must an attorney be a member of the bar? ..................42
Q 4.1.1 What if the attorney is licensed to practice in one jurisdiction but gives advice in another? ......................42
Q 4.1.2 Is there an exception to the bar membership requirement for “quasi-attorneys” or those who are the “functional equivalent” of attorneys? ..........................43
Q 4.1.3 Is a tax practitioner an “attorney” for the purpose of the privilege? .........................................................45
Q 4.1.4 What if a client reasonably, but wrongly, believes that someone is a licensed attorney? .........................46
Q 4.2 Must the attorney be formally retained by the client? ....47
Q 4.3 What if the attorney is merely a friend or relative? .......48
Q 4.4 Does the privilege apply equally to in-house attorneys? ..49
Q 4.5 Does the privilege apply equally to government attorneys? 52
Q 4.6 Can an attorney have privileged communications through the attorney’s agents or employees? .......................53
Q 4.6.1 Is an expert the agent of an attorney? .......................55
Q 4.7 Is a judge an “attorney” for the purpose of the privilege? 55

Chapter 5  Who Is a Client? .............................................61
Q 5.1 What is the basic definition of a client? .......................62
Q 5.1.1 Does the privilege protect consultations by a prospective client before an attorney is retained? .......................63
Q 5.2 Who may have privileged communications on behalf of a corporate client? ...........................................63
Q 5.2.1 Who may have privileged communications on behalf of a corporate client under the “control group” test? .................................................. 64
Q 5.2.2 Who may have privileged communications on behalf of a corporate client under the “subject matter” test? ........... 65
Q 5.2.3 Who may have privileged communications on behalf of a corporate client under the test articulated in Upjohn? .................................................. 66
Q 5.2.4 Is a corporate officer also a client when the corporation is a client? .......................................................... 67
Q 5.2.5 Are shareholders also a client when the corporation is a client? .......................................................... 68
Q 5.2.6 Does the attorney-client privilege apply to communications with former employees? .................. 70
Q 5.2.7 Is a parent corporation along with its subsidiaries considered a single client? ........................................... 72
Q 5.2.8 What is a lawyer’s ethical duty when communicating with corporate employees? .................. 73

Q 5.3 Who is the client in the partnership context? ................................ 74
Q 5.4 Who is the client in the limited liability company context? ........... 75
Q 5.5 Who is the client when an attorney represents a trade association? .......................................................... 77
Q 5.6 Who is a client in a class action? ................................................. 78
Q 5.7 Who is a client of a government attorney? .................. 80
Q 5.8 What if a person reasonably but incorrectly believes that he or she is a client? ................................................. 81
Q 5.9 What happens when the client is a minor? ................................................. 82

Chapter 6 The “Communication” Element ........................................ 91
Q 6.1 Must a “communication” be made in a particular form to be protected by the attorney-client privilege? .................. 92
Q 6.2 Are facts “communications” for the purpose of the attorney-client privilege? ................................................. 92
Q 6.2.1 Are pre-existing documents and other tangible things delivered by a client to an attorney “communications”? ....... 93
Q 6.2.2 Are a client’s notes privileged communications when given to an attorney? ................................................. 94
Q 6.3 Are communications about the existence and purpose of the attorney-client relationship privileged? .................. 95
Q 6.3.1 Are the circumstances surrounding a communication privileged? ................................................. 96
Q 6.3.2 Are attorney-client fee arrangements and billing records privileged communications? ........................................ 97

Q 6.4 Are communications between a client and an attorney’s agents privileged? ................................................................... 98

Q 6.5 Are communications between lawyers who represent the same client privileged? ........................................................... 98

Q 6.6 Are communications between clients and lawyers engaged in a joint defense privileged? ................................................... 99

Chapter 7 The “In Confidence” Element ........................................ 103

Q 7.1 What does it mean for a communication to be made in confidence for purposes of the privilege? ................................ 104

Q 7.2 Does the law presume that attorney-client communications are made in confidence? ......................................................... 104

Q 7.3 Under what circumstances does a client intend for a communication to be confidential? .......................................... 105

Q 7.3.1 What is the effect of marking documents as “privileged” or “confidential”? ................................................ 106

Q 7.3.2 What happens if a client knows that the communication will later be disclosed to a third party? .................................... 107

Q 7.4 Under what circumstance is the client’s expectation of confidentiality reasonable? ...................................................... 108

Q 7.4.1 What if a client has a duty to disclose the information discussed with the attorney? .................................................... 108

Q 7.4.2 What if the nature of the communication does not suggest confidentiality? .......................................................... 109

Q 7.4.3 What is the effect of the presence of third parties, in general? .................................................................................. 110

Q 7.4.4 What is the effect of the presence of a family member? .... 112

Q 7.4.5 What is the effect of the presence of corporate employees? ............................................................................ 112

Q 7.4.6 What is the effect of the presence of affiliated companies? ............................................................................. 113

Q 7.4.7 What is the effect of communications with co-counsel? .... 113

Q 7.4.8 What is the effect of communications with joint clients? .... 113

Q 7.4.9 What is the effect of the presence of experts? ................. 114

Q 7.4.10 What is the effect of communications between government employees? ......................................................... 114

Q 7.4.11 What is the effect of the presence of guards or other inmates in jail? ....................................................................... 114
Table of Contents

Chapter 8  "For the Purpose of Seeking or Obtaining Legal Advice"

| Q 8.1 | What constitutes “legal advice”? | 122 |
| Q 8.1.1 | What is pure “business advice” that will not be considered “legal advice”? | 125 |
| Q 8.1.2 | Is an attorney providing legal advice when negotiating a deal? | 126 |
| Q 8.1.3 | Is tax advice provided by a lawyer legal advice? | 127 |
| Q 8.1.4 | Is advice regarding an attorney’s investigation of facts legal advice? | 129 |
| Q 8.1.5 | Is advice regarding lobbying activity legal advice? | 130 |
| Q 8.1.6 | Is advice regarding patent and trademark applications legal advice? | 130 |
| Q 8.1.7 | Are corporate compliance policies legal advice? | 131 |

| Q 8.2 | When is a client’s “purpose” seeking or obtaining legal advice? | 132 |
| Q 8.2.1 | What happens if the client seeks advice from an attorney and a non-attorney in the same communication? | 134 |

| Q 8.3 | Is it presumed that a client who communicates with a lawyer is seeking legal advice? | 136 |
| Q 8.4 | Must a client expressly seek legal advice? | 137 |
| Q 8.5 | What happens when a single document describes or requests both legal and non-legal advice? | 138 |

Chapter 9  Who May Assert or Waive the Privilege?

| Q 9.1 | Who has the right to decide whether to assert or waive the privilege? | 148 |
| Q 9.2 | May a client’s agent assert or waive the privilege? | 149 |
| Q 9.3 | Who may assert the privilege on behalf of a corporation or other organization? | 150 |
| Q 9.3.1 | Who has standing when a corporation changes management? | 151 |
| Q 9.3.2 | What happens if a corporation sells assets associated with privileged communications? | 152 |
| Q 9.3.3 | Who has standing when a corporation is in bankruptcy? | 153 |
| Q 9.4 | Who has standing when a trustee is replaced? | 154 |
| Q 9.5 | What happens to the privilege when a client dies? | 154 |
Q 9.6 Who controls the privilege when an individual is in bankruptcy? .................................................................155
Q 9.7 Who has standing to assert or waive the privilege on behalf of the government? ........................................156
Q 9.8 Who has standing when two or more clients jointly hold the privilege? .................................................................157
Q 9.9 May a client assign or transfer the client’s privilege to someone else? .................................................................159

Chapter 10 Protecting the Privilege During a Judicial Proceeding ....165
Q 10.1 When might a party want to intentionally disclose privileged communications in a judicial proceeding? ...............166
Q 10.2 How can parties prevent inadvertent waiver of the attorney-client privilege during discovery? ..................167
  Q 10.2.1 How can inadvertent disclosure be avoided during depositions? .................................................................169
  Q 10.2.2 How can inadvertent disclosure be avoided when responding to written discovery requests? ..................170
Q 10.3 What agreements can parties in litigation make to prevent waiver through inadvertent disclosure? ..................172
Q 10.4 Can a lawyer use inadvertently disclosed privileged communications during litigation before a court has ruled on a privilege claim? .................................................................174
Q 10.5 How can parties prevent former employees from disclosing privileged information? ..................................175
Q 10.6 How can a party protect the attorney-client privilege during trial? .................................................................175
  Q 10.6.1 Will a negative inference be drawn if a party asserts the attorney-client privilege? ..............................176

Chapter 11 Waiver of the Privilege ......................................................179
Q 11.1 Who may waive the attorney-client privilege? .........................180
Q 11.2 What is a waiver of the attorney-client privilege? ..................180
Q 11.3 When does disclosure of privileged materials waive the privilege? .................................................................181
  Q 11.3.1 Is the privilege waived when privileged materials are voluntarily disclosed? .................................................182
  Q 11.3.2 Is the privilege waived when materials are involuntarily disclosed? .................................................................183
Table of Contents

Q 11.3.3 Is the privilege waived when privileged materials are inadvertently disclosed? .................................................................185
Q 11.3.4 Is the privilege waived by failure to object to disclosure? .............................................................................................186
Q 11.4 What is the effect of a waiver of the privilege? ...........................................................................................................187
Q 11.5 What happens when only a portion of a privileged communication is disclosed? ...................................................189

Chapter 12 The Crime-Fraud Exception ..................................................................................................................195
Q 12.1 What is the crime-fraud exception to the attorney-client privilege? .................................................................196
Q 12.2 Does the crime-fraud exception apply only when the crime or fraud in question has actually been completed?........197
Q 12.3 What are the policy reasons for not protecting confidences designed to effect a future crime or fraud? ..........197
Q 12.4 What must be shown for the crime-fraud exception to apply? ...........................................................................199
  Q 12.4.1 May a court conduct an in camera review of attorney-client communications to determine whether the crime-fraud exception applies to those communications? ........................................................................199
  Q 12.4.2 Is a close temporal relationship between attorney-client communications and a crime or fraud sufficient to establish the applicability of the crime-fraud exception? .......................................................201
Q 12.5 What communications must be disclosed once the crime-fraud exception has been established? ..........202
Q 12.6 Can the crime-fraud exception apply in cases not involving a crime or fraud? ...........................................................205

Chapter 13 The Fiduciary Exception ..................................................................................................................209
Q 13.1 What is the fiduciary exception? ..........................................................................................................................210
Q 13.2 What factors do courts consider in applying the fiduciary exception? ..............................................................................212
Q 13.3 In what contexts have courts applied the fiduciary exception? ..............................................................................214
  Q 13.3.1 When does the fiduciary exception apply in corporate cases? ..............................................................................214
  Q 13.3.2 When does the fiduciary exception apply outside the corporate context? ........................................................215
Chapter 14  Other Exceptions.................................................................221

Q 14.1  What is the self-protection exception to the attorney-client privilege? ...............................................................222
  Q 14.1.1  How does the self-protection exception apply in malpractice claims? .................................................................223
  Q 14.1.2  How does the self-protection exception apply in cases involving allegations of ineffective assistance of counsel? .................................................................225
  Q 14.1.3  How does the self-protection exception apply in fee disputes? .................................................................................225
  Q 14.1.4  In what other circumstances might the self-protection exception apply? .................................................................225

Q 14.2  What is the testamentary exception to the attorney-client privilege? ...............................................................226

Q 14.3  Is there a public policy exception to the attorney-client privilege rule? .................................................................228

Index.............................................................................................................235